BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with ; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turupike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held ; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fine wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms ; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland : one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river : located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.

A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut ; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.

A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season ; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.

A Tract, lying about 14 miles from the last mentioned, containing 236 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.

If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.

Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

CITY POST OFFICE ROBBERY.

A youth who was formerly employed in the City Post Office of this place, we learn, has been discovered purloining letters containing money. He was examined yesterday, confessed the fact, and was committed to jail for trial—a proof that great caution is required in selecting suitable persons for transacting business in this important department. The depredations committed, we understand, however, are inconsiderable. To the promptitude and vigilance of the postmaster, we are indebted for the discovery of this nefarious practice.

[Washington Gazette.

New-York, July 28.

The U. S. brig Enterprise, capt. Kearney, arrived at the quarantine ground yesterday, in 17 days from Omoa, Bay of Honduras, whither she was dispatched to bring home the mutineers of the schr. Retrieve, who took refuge in that port. The mate and one seaman are on board the Enterprize, prisoners. She parted with the Retrieve on the 14th inst. being bound to Vera Cruz.

A report had reached Omoa, similar to what was before received here from Honduras, that Com. Aury, had taken above 700,000 dollars in goods and specie in an enterprize to Golf Dulce. He had left the bay for Providence, wher the Enterprize sailed.

By letters received from Buenos Ayres, under date of the 23d May, we learn, that the Minister of Chili had officially notified N. W. Strong, esq. acting as American Consul at Buenos Ayres, that the coast of Peru was blockaded by the naval force of his Government. This act bears date St. Jago, April 20.

The Patriot frigate Curiazo, had sailed from Buenos Ayres early in May, to join Lord Cochrane off Lima. The Horatio yet remained in port under the American flag, and was commanded by Capt. Skinner.

We learn by the brig Frederick, from St. Croix, that a packet had arrived there, which brought information of the arrival of Commodore Perry, with his squadron, at the Island of St. Thomas. [Gazette.

Capt. Trenchard is appointed to the command of the U. S. ship of war CYANE, now lying at the Navy Yard. The Cyane is nearly equipped for sea. [Ibid.

YELLOW STONE EXPEDITION.

Letter from colonel James Johnson, to one of the editors of the Frankfort Argus, dated Mouth of Missouri, 25th June, 1819.

Dear Sir,—We still are at this place.—Colonel Atkinson, the commander of this district, and the expedition is here also.—This most valuable officer, gives me additional confidence in the success of our trip. I have three times ascended to Bell Fontaine, and had to contend with as rapid water as any in the Missouri. We have succeeded well, tho' it requires strong steam. Thank heaven, we have that. There are many cold water dashers in this country. But, sir, upon the arrival of the colonel, he gave hope to every effort. This selection, rest assured, does honor to the honorable secretary of war. I know of no officer that I would select as soon.

We are later in our start from this place than was expected; but dont be discouraged. The expedition will and shall succeed. It cant fail under the command of so energetic an officer as colonel Atkinson. The steam boat Jefferson broke the plate of her piston, head. The repairs would have taken but a few days; but my brother was compelled to send to Louisville for the casting, which took double the time the repair could be effected under other circumstances. But no time has yet been lost in this. The Jefferson and Calhoun are hourly expected; the Expedition and Johnson have been here nearly one month. It takes much time to inspect so large a supply of provisions, particularly the meat, as the inspector has thought it most prudent to repack the whole in salt, although it at present is sweet, and of the first quality.—The distant service to be performed caused the inspector to embrace this opinion.

The water is in fine order, although the annual rise has not yet commenced. I long to contend with the Missouri—I feel certain of success.

Upwards of 100,000 rations have gone on to Prairie due Chien and St. Peters, a part of which has arrived by this time at the former place.

We shall be off in a few days, at which time I will again address you.

The following article, translated from a French paper, contains further evidence of the humanity of our brave seamen. Captain Dillingham, of whom such honorable mention is made, is an American citizen—and the Warrington is an American ship, owned and navigated by citizens of the U. States. Why, we would ask, has the French editor omitted these circumstances? He is loud in his praises of captain Dillingham, but does not mention the nation to which he belongs. It appears however, that the vessel which was wrecked, and the persons whose lives were saved by captain Dillingham, were English.

From the Memorial of Bordeaux.

On the 31st of December, 1818, James Dillingham, captain and owner of the ship Warrington, being in lat. 47, N. lon. 50, W. meredian of Paris, discovered a brig entirely dismantled and apparently in the greatest distress. It was the Robert, of Blyth, captain Robert Clarke, who sailed from Liverpool for New-York, and had been buffeted by the waves during 102 days. She had 18 passengers on board, among whom were five children, two of the latter at the breast. The eldest of the ladies was not more than 23. At the moment when these unfortunate beings were seen from the Warrington, the sea was horrific; the brig half opened, made water in every direction; her captain, lashed to the helm, struggled in vain against the billows; and during the last 24 hours, even the ladies themselves had worked at the pumps with the sailors, still endeavoring to delay, for some instants, a death which seemed inevitable.

At the sight of their imminent peril, Js. Dillingham, forgetting his own safety, immediately resolved to save them. He succeeded at first in launching a boat; but it required all his authority to make the sailors get out, as the greatness of the danger appalled them. Indeed their fears were not without cause, for the boat foundered at the very moment it neared the brig, and the men had only time to grapple the vessel. Dillingham's courage increased with the danger. Another boat was launched, and followed by some intrepid seamen, he threw himself into it and steered straight for the wreck. By his skill and daring, he succeeded in boarding her. All on board wished to escape at once—but Dillingham by blending much firmness with mildness, succeeded in restraining their eagerness, and the deliverance of some was deferred to secure the safety of all. Having taken as many on board as the boat could hold without danger, he regained his vessel, and in two other trips, not less perilous, especially as night approached, he succeeded in saving all on board the wreck. One child, alone, 18 months old, died in captain Dillingham's arms.

The bare perusal of the particulars which we have just stated, is sufficient to give a true idea of the courage and presence of mind of this intrepid captain; but to justly appreciate the good qualities of his generous soul, we must read the modest and unvarnished account he gave to the prefect of the Gironde, who had expressed a wish to learn the particulars. We shall cite the concluding sentence of this report, as it is remarkable:—

"When all those unfortunate beings had reached my ship, I forgot the dangers I had run. I even forgot the risk of wanting food for so many additional mouths—nothing like that occupied my thoughts. I felt nothing but the satisfaction of having contributed to save the lives of those distressed beings—they loaded me with their benedictions, and I was happy. Their grateful prayers doubtless reached the throne of the Most High, for I had only 32 days passage."

The brother of one of the ladies came from London to Bordeaux for the express purpose of thanking captain Dillingham. It is in like thanks, coming from the hearts of those he saved, and in his own breast, that such a man as captain Dillingham finds his sweetest reward.

Richmond, July 28.

CREW OF THE IRRESISTABLE.

Yesterday, Mr. Stanard, the U. States attorney for this district, addressed the jury on the case of Samuel Poole, indicted, under the act of the last session of congress, for piratically robbing a Spanish vessel, or a vessel, whose name was unknown, of Spanish milled dollars.—He was followed by Messrs. W. Wickham and A. Stevenson, on behalf of the prisoner. Mr. Stanard closed the argument on the part of the United States.

Chief Justice Marshall then charged the jury, and concluded with telling them, that it was impossible—the act of congress could apply to any case, if it did not to this; yet, the standard referred to by the act of congress must be admitted to be so vague as to admit some doubt: The writers on the law of nations give us no definition of the crime of piracy. Under the doubts arising from this circumstance the court recommended it to the jury to find a special verdict which might submit the law to the more deliberate consideration of the court. The jury retired for a few moments, and brought in a verdict, which, being slightly altered with their consent, is as follows:

"If the plunder of a Spanish vessel on the high seas in April, 1819, by the crew of a vessel sailing and cruizing at the time under no commission whatever, which crew had previously cruized in a private armed vessel commissioned by the government of Buenos Ayres, a Spanish colony at war with Spain, and while on such cruize, in the month of March, 1819, had mutinied, confined their officers, left that private armed vessel, and seized by violence the Irresistable, a vessel at that time cruizing under the government of Artigas, then also at war with Spain, and the said vessel (the Irresistable) when so seized lying in the port of Margaritta; and while thus cruizing in the Irresistable without any commission, committed the robbery charged in the indictment, be piracy under an act entitled "An act to protect the commerce of the U. States and to punish the crime of piracy," then we find the prisoner, Samuel Poole, guilty of the piracy charged in the indictment; if the plunder above stated be not piracy, under the said act of congress, then we find him not guilty.

MADISON WALTHALL.'

The jury being discharged, the court proceeded to the trial of the other prisoners named in the same indictment.

☞ We understand that about twelve of them were tried last evening—and that the jury returned a special verdict similar to the above—in the case of Poole.

THE ABORIGINES.

[We can assure the reader that the following communication, to use the language of the writer, "is no fiction." We are assured from the most respectable sources, that the interesting incident mentioned, occurred as related by our correspondent.

[Connecticut Mirror.

MR. EDITOR,—Should you believe that the following will be interesting to your readers, it is at your service. I will only observe, it is no fiction. The circumstances occurred, and the speech was delivered, in the presence of Gen. Brown and suite, and many other persons of the first respectability; some of whom understood the language, and can vouch for the correctness of the translation. VIATOR.

The comparitive rank which the Aborigines of this country hold in the scales of national intellectual talent, has been often the subject of investigation, and by the advocates of their equality with other nations in this respect, the speeches of Logan, and others of their chiefs and warriors, have been produced as incontrovertable testimony of the justness of their claim. All these speeches, however, which I have seen, are confined to the subjects of war, revenge or policy. Indeed so little has ever been heard from them on other subjects, that it has been believed by many that they are destitute of those feelings which would give being to effusions indicative of the warmer feelings of the heart. In this point of view the speech I annex, may be deemed a curiosity. Not that there is any thing really new in the sentiments conveyed, but as it was unexpected to hear them in such a form, from an Indian.

In the course of a tour, the present summer, into the western states, I was on board the steam-boat Walk-in-the-Water, on her return from Mackinaw, where the speech of "Mackawitta" was spoken of—and a copy of it was furnished by an English traveller on board, with the following notice of him. This gentleman first met with Makcawitta, high up the Ottawa or Utawa river, in company with 5 or 600 of his countrymen. He noticed him particularly at that time, as being the most perfect man in form and features he had ever seen, in which opinion he was joined by all the passengers in the steam boat. He was young, not to exceed twenty, and perhaps a little exceeding the middle size; his form & features were purely Grecian—he was neat in his dress, and there was an indescribable grace and dignity in all his movements.

The morning after the arrival of the steam boat at Mackinaw, he, with from 5 to 700 of his countrymen arrived there on a war expedition, against some of the southern Indians, and came on board the boat. He immediately attracted the attention of the passengers; and one of the ladies in a sportive mood, took a ring from her own, and placed it on his finger. Mackawitta knew not what to think of this act, until a gentleman on board, who spoke his language, informed him that a ring was a token of affection. Placing himself in a graceful attitude, he immediately addressed the lady as follows:

"You have conferred the best gift—this "ring—emblem of love—of love that en-"dures while the Great Spirit endures.—"My heart is touched—it is your's for-"ever.

"I will preserve this ring while I live—"I will bear it with me over the mighty "waters, to the land of the good spirits.

"I am happy to be with you on this won-"derful canoe, moved by the Great Spirit, "and conducted by the big fish of the "great deep. I wish to be with you till I "go to where my fathers have gone.

"Take back the ring—and give me that "which I value more—yourself."

HISTORICAL.

Extract from Dr. Caldwell's Memoirs of the life of General Greene.

This work, on the eve of issuing from the press, will doubtless possess a high degree of interest. We owe to the politeness of the author, the permission to make the following extract.

[Analectic Magazine.

BATTLE OF RAMSAOUR'S MILL.

"Equally, perhaps, unknown, to most of the inhabitants, and singularly neglected in the history of our country, is another very gallant partisan adventure, achieved on the 22d of June, 1780. Neither American regulars, nor British soldiers having any concern in this spirited affair, it was fought entirely by raw militia men, of the whig and tory parties.

"About twelve hundred of the latter, having assembled under the command of colonel Moore, encamped in a strong position at Ramsaour's mill, a few miles westward from the Catawba river, and in the vicinity of the line which separates North from South Carolina. In which of the two states the encampment was situated, is not at present recollected, although the writer of this narrative has been frequently on the spot.

"In addition to rapine, and the production of general distress, a favorite object of this party was to overawe and weaken the adjacent country, by capturing and carrying within the British lines, a number of its most influential inhabitants. Besides being thus prevented from taking a lead in active measures of resistance, these were to be held as hostages for the good conduct and neutrality of their friends.

"To defeat the mischievous purposes of this party, and to dislodge them from their strong hold, the most spirited of the whigs from Iredell, a neighboring county, assembled to the amount of three hundred men, under the command of colonel Locke. These consisted principally of foot; but in part, of a small corps of mounted infantry, armed with rifles, pistols, and sabres, led by captain Falls, an officer of peculiar gallantry and worth.

"This hasty levy of soldiers presented a spectacle eminently interesting.—They were fresh from their homes, their private habits unbroken, no discipline or concert of action established among them, and all their domestic feelings clinging around their hearts.

"They were, in the true sense of the expression, a band of friends and neighbors, being all from the same settlement, and perfectly known to each other in private life. In the whole party there was not an individual who had not repeatedly united with the others, in rural sport and social enjoyment. As citizens, they were all of the same rank, and respectable.—They were masters of the soil they had assembled to defend.

"Of this corps of patriots, the military prowess was entirely untried; not one of them, with the exception of captain Falls, having ever confronted an enemy in the field. Their only warlike acquirement was great expertness and skill in the use of the rifle. In that qualification they had few superiors.

"Being all dressed in their common apparel, they exhibited no uniformity of appearance. To remedy this, and to distinguish them from the tories, who were known to be dressed in the same way, they fastened over the crowns of their hats from back to front, descending to the rim on each side, stripes of white paper, about two inches broad.—Each one brought to the place of rendezvous, his own rifle, 50 rounds of powder and ball, a week's provision, and a light blanket. That they might be perfectly unincumbered, neither baggage-wagon nor pack horse was attached to the party.

"Thus accoutred, eager for battle, and panting for glory, without waiting for a considerable force that was assembled in Rowan, a neighboring county, under gen. Rutherford, to join them, they moved in haste and silence, towards the scene of action.

"The second day's march brought them into the immediate vicinity of their object. They encamped for the night, determined to strike, and hoping to surprise the enemy in the morning. But in this they were disappointed.

"On advancing to the attack, about break of day, they found the foe on the alert, and ready to receive them. They therefore resolved to wait until it should be completely light, that the aim of their rifles might be the more deadly.

"The morning opening, disclosed to them a preparation for defence and resistance, much more formidable than they had expected to find. The enemy were posted on the top of a hill covered with timber, which afforded them shelter.—Their flanks were protected on one side by a mill dam, and on the other side by a swamp, a small stream of water flowing in the rear. In front of their encampment was erected, of stakes and brush-wood, a breast-work so compact, as to be proof against small arms, and to impede, in a great measure, the operation of cavalry. A strong detachment of the foe was stationed in advance of the breastwork, armed with rifles, and concealed behind trees.

"At first sight, this array of men and means was some-what appalling. But the Rubicon was passed.—Retreat would be ruin, accompanied with disgrace—Battle might also be ruinous, but could not be dishonorable. Without hesitation, therefore, the latter was resolved on.

"At his own request, Capt. Falls with his mounted infantry led the attack. When at the distance of about eighty paces, he received the fire of the enemy's advance. Returning this with considerable effect he rushed sword in hand into the midst of them, threw them into confusion, and forced them to fall back. Pressing his fortune with too much ardor, he received a ball through his breast, and fell dead from his horse.

"His party, however, undismayed by the loss of their leader, continued the action with great gallantry, until the foot advanced to their support, when the enemy was driven behind his breastwork.

"Here ensued a most murderous conflict. The whigs having so far levelled the obstruction, as to render it passable, rushed over it, mingled with the enemy, and in many instances, grappled with them man to man. Every instrument and mean of death was now resorted to. The bullet, the sword, the rifle-but, and even the hatchet, with which some were provided, were abundantly employed. Rarely in any case, has blood been more inexorable, or by the same number of combatants, more prodigally shed

"For a time the issue was doubtful.—Pressed by superior numbers, the whigs were once compelled to give ground; some of them retreating across the breastwork. But resolutely bent on victory or death, they returned to the charge with such fierce impetuosity, and decisive effect, as bore down all re-sistance.

"The tories broke and fled in confusion, the whigs for some distance hanging on their rear, with terrible slaughter.

"Thus terminated an affair in which so many gallant spirits made their first, and too many of them, alas! their last essay in arms. In the course of it the whigs performed prodigies; and the royalists manifested a degree of resolution and valor worthy of a better cause.

"The latter lost, in killed, wounded and prisoners, upwards of six hundred men.—The prisoners and wounded were paroled and liberated on the field of battle.

"The numerical loss of the former was exceedingly heavy, nearly half of them being killed or wounded. But the actual loss which consisted in the character, rather than the number of those that fell, was incalculable. On that fatal day, some of the choicest blood of the south was heroically offered on the altar of freedom.

"The death of captain Falls, in particular, was deeply lamented. In the ranks of his country he did not leave behind him a purer patriot, or a more gallant soldier.

"His son, a youth of 14, had accompanied him to battle. When the captain fell, this high-minded stripling, moved by an instinctive impulse of affection, sprang from his horse to embrace the body, and protect it from insult. One of the enemy, believed to be the same that shot captain Falls, advancing with a view to plunder the corpse, the son suddenly snatching the sword of the deceased, plunged it into the bosom of the marauder, and thus at once punished audacity, and nobly revenged his father's death.

"So deadly was the aim of the tory riflemen, at the commencement of the action, before the smoke of their own fire had obstructed their view, that many of them placed their balls in the lower end of the strips of paper, which the whigs wore over the crowns of their hats. Every shot of this description, passing through the brains, was instantly fatal."

Missouri and Illinois Bounty Lands.

THE subscriber has now for sale a number of the most valuable tracts, in both of those rich and improving bodies of lands, and can supply applicants with any number they may wish, and in any part of either territory. Every person who visits the Western Country, particularly those who intend settling there, should take with them a few quarter sections of those lands; every man who has a young and growing family, and can spare a few hundred dollars, should not miss the present opportunity of getting some of those lands; as it will insure to his children a greater certainty than any other investment he can possibly make for their benefit.—From the immense emigration to both Illinois and Missouri, particularly to the military lands, it is certain there must be a great rise in the price very soon, and those who miss the present opportunity, will never again have a chance to do so well. The patents will be sold very low, for cash, good notes or bonds at short dates, or bank stock in the Central Bank of Georgetown and Washington, and the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown. As I am a large dealer in Military Bounty Lands, I can supply any number that may be required.

A TRACT OF LAND,

In Fairfax county, Va. about six miles from Alexandria, known by the name of Mount Hebron; or so much thereof as will be sufficient to satisfy and pay the sum of ten thousand dollars, with interest, from the 1st April, 1817. A large proportion of this land is in wood. The improvements on the premises, are two dwelling houses, one of them of brick, a small country mill with one pair of stones, a saw mill, and a building, lately occupied as a cotton factory, with an extensive orchard of various kinds of fruit. The sale will commence at o'clock, when the terms, with any other information which shall be desired, will be given by THOMAS SWANN,

BY virtue of a writ of Fieri Facias, issued from Prince George's county court, and to me directed, I will offer at public sale, at John Palmer's tavern, on the 10th day of August next, for ready cash, about 18 years of age; taken as the property of Mary Moreland, administratrix of Thomas B. Moreland, to satisfy a judgment in favor of Ann Magill, administratrix of Thomas Magill.

A handsome Mulatto Boy,

Sale to commence at two o'clock.

Lands for Sale.

BY VIRTUE of a power of attorney from William S. Courts to the subscriber, will be sold at public sale.

On WEDNESDAY, the 18th AUGUST in Port Tobacco, that valuable tract of land whereon John H. Barnes at present resides called lying and being in Charles county Maryland, containing between three and four hundred acres. This land is handsomely situated, lying immediately on Matawoman Creek, at least one third of which is in wood, with a sufficient quantity of marsh land for grazing—that part of the land which is in cultivation is well adapted to the growth of corn, wheat and tobacco, and with proper care would be equal, if not superior to any land in that neighborhood.

ALSO,

At the same time and place, will be offered for sale the plantation at present in the occupancy of Francis & Sam'l Wheeler, lying about one mile from the above place, containing about four hundred acres. As it is presumed that persons wishing to purchase will first view the premises, it is thought unnecessary to give a more particular description thereof. The terms of sale will be as follows: viz possession given on the first day of January next, at which time one third of the purchase money will be required, the remaining two thirds at one and two years the purchaser giving bond with approved security with interest.—Upon the payment of the whole purchase money, a sufficient deed will be executed to the purchaser.

July 9 ts

Sale of Valuable Land.

BY virtue of a deed of trust, the subscriber will offer at public sale, at Mr. Hardy's tavern, Piscataway, on Thursday, 5th August, next, several tracts or parcels of land, on Matiawoman Run, about three miles from Piscataway, lying partly in Prince George's county, and partly in Charles county, called and known by the names of Strife, Bonton enlarged, Friendship & Smallwood's meadows, Thompson's Hoop Thickets, and four acres of land adjoining, containing in the whole 420 acres, 1 rood, 18 perch. more or less; which said lands were heretofore conveyed by Thomas Mundell, esq. trustee for the sale of the real estate of N. Blacklock, late of Charles co. deceased, to N. F. Blacklock, late of Alexandria, and by him to the subscriber.

These lands have been, I am told, considerably improved lately by the use of clover and plaster: their susceptibility of still further improvement by these easy means, and their nearness to the Potomac, render them certainly very desirable.

Terms of sale—two thousand dollars to be paid on the day of sale and the balance on the 1st day of January, 1820, when possession will be given. Upon the payment of the whole of the purchase money, the subscriber will execute a good and sufficient deed, conveying to the purchaser all the right and title of the late N. F. Blacklock, subject to the widow's dower.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be sold as divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25
